

Dorothy Crowford Hodgkin 1910-1994

INSULIN

Dorothy Hodgkin used X-rays to work out the structure of a number of large molecules found in living organisms, such as insulin (shown in the photograph), penicillin and vitamin B12. Dorothy is remembered as a Nobel prize winning chemist.

ISEB
Independent Schools
Examinations Board